

Han F. Vermeulen is a historian of anthropology based at the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology in Germany. Trained as a cultural anthropologist in Leiden, he has a long-standing interest in the history and theory of anthropology. He carried out library and archival research in the Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Slovakia, the United Kingdom, the United States, and Russia. Having convened workshops on the history of anthropology in Germany, the Czech Republic, the Netherlands, Italy, and Sweden, he published numerous articles and edited volumes, including Fieldwork and Footnotes: Studies in the History of European Anthropology (1995), Treasure Hunting? Collectors and Collections of Indonesian Artefacts (2002), Tales from Academia: History of Anthropology in the Netherlands (2002). His latest book, Before Boas: The Genesis of Ethnography and Ethnology in the German Enlightenment (University of Nebraska Press, 2015) was awarded the ICAS Book Prize 2017 by the International Convention of Asia Scholars and published as a paperback in 2018. He co-edited German-Speaking Anthropologists in Latin America, 1884-1945, special issue of Revista de Antropologia, São Paulo, 62 (2019): 64-240: <http://www.revistas.usp.br/ra/issue/view/10975>. Together with Frederico Delgado Rosa (Lisbon, Portugal), he coordinates the History of Anthropology Network (HOAN) within EASA: <https://www.easaonline.org/networks/hoan/>

Current research: history and theory of anthropology, ethnology, and ethnography in Europe, Asia and the USA from the 18th century to the present; race and ethnicity in a globalizing age
Institutional address: Dr. Han F. Vermeulen - Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology, Department Law and Anthropology Advokatenweg 36, D-06114 Halle (Saale), Germany