

ANTONIO RUSSO is Full Professor of Moral Philosophy, Department of Humanities, at the State University of Trieste, Italy. He holds advanced degrees in both theology and philosophy, and has been awarded numerous research grants at leading universities in Italy, Vatican City and Germany. He has organised several international academic conferences. He has been the Main Investigator of the National Project PRIN 2009-2012: Intenzionalità e natura (Intentionality and Nature) supported by the Italian Gouvernement and by the Universities of Trieste, Lecce-Salento and Trento.

<http://cercauniversita.cineca.it/php5/prin/cerca.php?codice=2009ZWY9HC>

October 2016- October 2018 he has chaired the Italian National Scientific Habilitation Procedure (ASN 2016-2017-2018) for Ethics (Filosofia morale).

1974-1977: graduate studies, in Sacramental Theology and Liturgy at “Pont. Faculty of Theology Sant’Anselmo (Rome);

1978: PhD in Philosophy at the State University, Rome (Supervisors: Prof. Dr. Marco M. Olivetti, Manlio Simonetti and Ugo Spirito);

1978-1980: Postdoctorate School in Philosophy (State University of Rome);

1980: B.A. in Theology (Gregorian University, Vatican);

1982: M.A. in Theology (Gregorian University, supervisor Prof. Dr. Angel

Anton); 1990: Dr in Theology (supervisor: Prof Walter Kasper, Tübingen; Prof. Dr. Max Seckler);

Antonio Russo is also author or editor of 20 books and more than 180 essays, including Henri de Lubac: Teologia e dogma nella storia. L’influsso di Blondel (Foreword by W. Kasper; Roma: Studium, 1990); Henri de Lubac (Milano, 1994; French translation, Paris: Editions Brepols, 1997); Cornelio Fabro e Franz Brentano, Roma 2013; Franz Brentano e Heinrich Denifle, Roma, 2014, Walter Kasper. Cattolismo vivente sotto la parola di Dio, with a Foreword by W. Kasper, Rome 2019.